

Service has always been a way of life for Marsha Morgan. She is one of the founding members of the Birmingham Change Fund, a giving circle founded in 2004. Currently, she serves as an Advisory Board member of the Community Investment Network, a national network of giving circles impacting African Americans and communities of color. Members of the Community Investment Network believe in leveraging their resources of time, talent, treasure, and testimony to create change in their local communities. Previously, Marsha served as a member of the Co-Design Team to strengthen and grow giving circles, which launched Philanthropy Together, in the Spring of 2020.

Marsha is a member of several local civic and professional organizations, including the Birmingham Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc., Tennessee State University Alumni Chapter, The Birmingham (AL) Chapter of The Links, Incorporated, Breakthrough Birmingham, National Society of Black Engineers, Oasis Counseling Center for Women and Children, O'Neal Comprehensive Cancer Center Advisory Board, American Association of Blacks in Energy, ABFE, and Women of Color in Fundraising and Philanthropy.

Marsha's philanthropic endeavors have garnered recognition, including the Distinguished Service Award from the Engineering Council of Birmingham. In 2021, she was honored by the Women's Philanthropy Institute and the WISE Fund on the inaugural "Black Women Give Back" list.

With extensive experience in engineering, regulatory compliance, project management, and corporate giving within the energy industry, Marsha holds a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from Tennessee State University and a master's in business administration from the University of Alabama at Birmingham. She is also a certified Project Management Professional and designated as a Chartered Advisor in Philanthropy®.
